The purpose of this paper is to discuss how Lewin's Change Management theory can guide the process of implementing bar-coding medication administration (BCMA) at this large psychiatric facility. Several studies (Bozak, 2003; Lehman, 2008; Spetz, Burgess & Phibbs, 2012) expounded the need for a concise plan and clear communication between nurses and management when implementing a change of this nature. The use of Lewin's Change Management theory can support nurses through the transitions ...
